Many Marylanders' most serious exposure to the legal system comes after they suffer an accident or injury. While trying to recover – physically, emotionally and financially – they often seek legal counsel to help them secure restitution or just to pay for their expenses.

At the same time, businesses and health care institutions also need sound legal advice to ensure their interests are effectively represented in court.

The people you'll meet in this Power List are among the finest practitioners in this complex legal field in Maryland.

This list was chosen by our editorial leadership team. We reached out to readers and others in the legal community for input and perspective.

In this list we explore how these attorneys view their career, what they would change if they could and what they might be doing if they hadn't chosen this profession. We're hoping to offer a glimpse into the kind of people they are and how they see their accomplishments.

This list is part of a series of Power Lists throughout 2023 that will showcase the most influential figures in law, higher education, health care, business, financial services and other fields. At the end of the year, we'll offer a special Power 100 List that puts a spotlight on the most powerful and influential people in Maryland across all of these fields.

You can find this and all our Power Lists here.

If you know of someone you think is a strong candidate for inclusion on our Power Lists, we'd love to hear from you. Just go to <https://thedailyrecord.com/power-list-recommendation-form/> and tell us about the individual.

We hope you enjoy this publication and we welcome your feedback and suggestions.
